Portfolio Review Sessions

Mark Devereux and Jack Welsh, Mark Devereux Projects

Wednesday 23 May 2018 | Clayhill Arts | 10am – 5pm

Cost: FREE. 10 places for Somerset Art Works Artist Members (Supported by Somerset Art Works & Visual Arts South West)

Mark Devereux and Jack Welsh from Mark Devereux Projects will be delivering one-hour portfolio review sessions for artists at Clayhill Arts.

The session is an opportunity to receive critical feedback and suggestions about your practice, including potential areas for development. This also could include advice on artist statements, biographies, websites and CVs, and how to maximise opportunities.

The session is delivered in partnership with Clayhill Arts and Somerset Art Works.

To Book

Booking for the sessions can be made through Somerset Art Works.

Contact Zoe Li, Programme Associate zoe.li@somersetartworks.org.uk for initial discussion before confirmation of the place, before Friday 18 May.

Session preparation for artists

Please bring any relevant images of your work, or material you'd like to discuss, to your session.

About Mark Devereux Projects

Mark Devereux Projects has established a proven track record of developing artists' practices and careers since forming in 2013.

Many of the artists we have worked with have gone on to receive important commissions, prizes, exhibitions and grants that have furthered their careers.

Mark Devereux, Director

Mark Devereux graduated from BA (Hons) Photography and MA Fine Art at Staffordshire University in 2006. Responding to limited opportunities available in the region, immediately after graduating he founded Blank Media Collective and later BLANKSPACE Gallery. During six-years as Director of the organisation he was pivotal in providing numerous early-career artists from the UK and abroad with their first exhibition, performing or writing opportunity. Devereux holds over 12-years experience working across the art sector, working with more than 350 artists, curating over 100 exhibitions and events, publishing 4 books and facilitating numerous artist development programmes.

Jack Welsh, Producer

Jack Welsh is a freelance arts producer, researcher and writer. He possesses over 12-years experience of working across both contemporary art and academia, and is currently a Fine Art Lecturer at Liverpool Hope University where he runs a Professional Practice module. Welsh was previously Research Associate for The University of Manchester and University of Liverpool. He regularly produces writing for websites and publications including thisistomorrow, ArtLyst and Corridor8. Welsh's writing awards include CVAN North West Critical Writing Bursary and a-n Interface award. He was recently published in a book on contemporary arts criticism On Being Curious.
